

Looking Ahead

This week, we will wrap up the first letter to the Thessalonians, reading 1 Thessalonians 5:12-28. After sharing with them about their love and endurance under persecution, the Apostle Paul finishes the letter with a whopping 20 commands in 17 verses. I like to see these commands as a Christian checklist for living, and they cover areas of prayer, worship, respecting their leaders and helping people in need of encouragement. There is truly something for everyone on this list; take a look and see which one challenges you in your Christian walk.

Next week, we will hear from E3 president and former FBC youth pastor Jeremy Doorten.

A few individuals in the church have been requesting Pastor Jim's sermon notes before Sunday mornings so they may follow along during the service. If this would also benefit you please reach out to Pastor Jim and he will be happy to add you to the email list.

A Verse To Think About

"Religion that God our Father accepts as pure and faultless is this: to look after orphans and widows in their distress and to keep oneself from being polluted by the world."—James 1:27

With the amount of times that the Bible mentions taking care of the needy and vulnerable, you may think that God thinks that it is an important subject. One of the things that originally attracted me to this church is that FBC has always been helping out the vulnerable, whether it be handing out food at the riverbank, through Christmas hampers, even our bread ministry. James says that pure and faultless Religion that God accepts is doing these things. I have always felt that a church needs to be involved in loving their community. How will you be the hands and feet of Jesus? Will you deliver groceries to a family in need? Drive someone to a doctor's appointment? Just be there to listen to a friend who is struggling? Help with reaching out? There are so many opportunities to make our religion count.
